

Can we trust corporations to administer our Traditional Medicare benefits?

REACH is a new program that allows for-profit middlemen to manage Traditional Medicare. Here's what we found looking into some of the companies being given control of our care.

charging

Centene has settled with at least 9 states for a total of over $400 million over allegations of overcharging Medicaid for prescription drugs.

Clover Health was fined for using marketing materials that misled beneficiaries about their network and benefits, leading to denials.

inaccurate
marketing

kick
backs

AdventHealth settled with the government for over $100 million over allegations that it gave out improper referral bonuses.

We cannot allow Medicare to be handed over to corporate middlemen. Read our letter to the Biden administration that details the bad behavior perpetrated by these companies, and that calls for an end to the REACH program.

Together, we can protect Medicare for seniors, people with disabilities, and future generations!
